

Emotional Intelligence as a predictor of High Performance

Who We Are

Ei World is a recognised leader in the field of emotional intelligence.

We lead research, education and development projects for organisations in highly specialised and technical occupations. Typically we assist organisations who want to identify what distinguishes and predicts high performance in a particular occupational role, to ensure return on investment is realised.

Our evidence suggests that emotional intelligence is one of the very best predictors and indicators of work performance in a variety of contexts.

This work is conducted using the highest standards of research and ethics. We only use valid and reliable tools for measuring emotional intelligence.

What We Do

We are an international company of emotional intelligence specialists and associates.

Our services include:

- Applied research on 'high performance'.
- Design of customised development programmes based on researched effectiveness.
- Accreditation in emotional intelligence tools, for in-house teams and external consultants.
- Executive development based on emotional intelligence.
- Talent management.

Distinctive Features:

1. We are one of the longest standing providers of emotional intelligence services in the world today.
2. We are acknowledged as pioneers and experts in measuring and applying emotional intelligence.
3. A track record of implementing interventions with measurable results.
4. Extensive expertise in a variety of contexts across both public and private sector.

