

BRINGING THE TEAM EMOTIONAL INTELLIGENCE SURVEY IN-HOUSE

Accreditation program for Consultants, Coaches & Change Agents

BUSINESS CONTEXT (WHY)

Developed by Prof. Vanessa Druskat and Dr Steven B. Wolff, this Team EI Accreditation program designed to enhance the functioning of your high-performing teams.

In an ever-demanding and changing world, we recognize that companies need solutions to deal with growing challenges and complexities, which is why we designed Team EI Survey.

When we think about teams, we need to think in terms of complex, interrelated systems.

Trust, communication, and emotional intelligence are all elements that influence the performance of a team, just as individual cells influence the health of a living organism.

Not only are team members interdependent upon one another, but the team itself is intricately connected to the larger organization and its stakeholders – another layer of complexity.

As we know, dysfunctional teams may not simply maintain the status quo, but can actually sabotage the performance of the entire organization.

Without a clear understanding of the complex dynamics at play both internally and externally, teams are not positioned to deliver their best.

WHY NOW?

Consultants, Coaches, Change agents and HR Professionals who work with teams play a key role in enabling teams to be high performing and value-adding.

Virtual/remote teams are more prevalent than ever before. Teams need to develop the ability to work effectively to drive performance, value and productivity in a highly uncertain business context.

Team leaders play an important role in setting the tone and climate to support the best work of the team.

Many approaches to team development do not address the role of emotion in a complex, adaptive system. This team survey does.

The Ei World Accreditation program equips change agents to help teams realize their collective optimal performance while they work. Now more than ever, organizations need high functioning teams with a clear purpose.

PROGRAM AIMS

Clients learn the theory & research behind Team Emotional Intelligence (Team EI), gain familiarity with interpreting team reports & the knowledge to be able to use the Team Ei Survey with real teams straight away.

YOU WILL LEARN

1. How emotion in a team affects performance.
2. Team Emotional Intelligence Survey, model & background context.
3. How team dynamics affect team effectiveness.
4. Practicalities in using the team survey effectively.

PROGRAM OVERVIEW

Ei World's flagship accreditation program equips change agents to work effectively with teams, using the Team EI Survey, created by experts in team effectiveness and emotional intelligence.

The survey enables a team to evaluate where they are, and then work systematically to develop the team behaviors that will support the team functioning effectively as a high performing team.

Through this program you will be equipped by the experts to coach teams using the Team EI Survey.

HOW IT WORKS / BENEFITS

1

The program is designed to enhance the functioning of your high-performing teams to allow your organization to better deal with the growing challenges and complexities of this ever-demanding and changing world.

2

The Team Ei Survey helps your teams to have the conversations that enable more effective collaboration and decision-making so that they can progress, perform better, and start to increasingly focus on strategic thinking and action.

3

The 8-hour standard accreditation is split over 2 sessions & delivered remotely through video meetings. The highly interactive approach enables all participants to become actively involved in the learning process.

4

Customised & tailored accreditations are available to support cultural alignment & implementation of Team Ei Survey benefits into large organisations, using your own internal/external coaches & change agents.

PARTICIPANT FEEDBACK

"This program helped me grasp the importance of underlying team emotional intelligence problems that kept getting overlooked & equipped me to apply the Team Ei survey approach very effectively back in my organisation."

"The Team Ei Survey brings significant value through having a true group level assessment & a starting point for extremely important & relevant dialogue on components of teamwork that produce high performing teams."
