Team Ei Survey FAQ's

What is the Team Ei Survey?

Team Emotional Intelligence Survey (Team EI Survey) is designed to enhance the functioning of your teams, to allow your company to better deal with the growing challenges and complexities of this ever-demanding and changing world.

The Team EI Survey helps your teams to have the conversations that enable more effective collaboration and decision-making so that they can progress, perform better, and start to increasingly focus on strategic thinking and action.

The Team Emotional Intelligence Survey measures how effectively your team's culture manages emotion.

Who is Team Ei Survey Accreditation for?

The accreditation program is for internal/external consultants, coaches, team coaches, HR professionals & change agents.

What does the Team Ei Accreditation program include?

The program includes:

- Access to the full suite of online program resources once you register
- 2 virtual training sessions of 4 hours each, led by world experts in Team Emotional Intelligence
- Your first Team EI Survey free of charge (standard price £350), for use between session 1 and 2
- On course completion, ongoing access to resources to assist with the effective delivery of the program, including survey portal.

Why should I become accredited with the Team Ei Survey?

The benefits of using the Team Ei Survey are:

- Up to 25% Team Performance and productivity improvements, using the framework for "Team Performance Essentials" detailed below.
- Focuses on specific behaviours. You are not left wondering "How do I get the team to do that?" —for example, how do I get my team members to trust each other.
- Team Emotional Intelligence is built while a team is actively doing its work. There is no need to take teams away from their work.
- Team Emotional Intelligence represents a culture that allows the team to create a constructive emotional experience for members. Because cultures endure.
- Team Emotional Intelligence creates the impetus to engage and resolve difficult conversations and enables any 'elephant in the room' issues to be discussed with more effective working solutions implemented.
